The BS in Human Services Delivery & Administration (HSDA) prepares students with the knowledge and skills necessary to serve individuals, families, groups, and communities and manage human services functions. Concentration classes build on this core knowledge and emphasize the skills necessary to conduct program planning and evaluation. Emphasis is placed on research methodology. Students are able to apply and further develop this knowledge through three semesters of required field practicum classes; one field practicum placement must be directly related to program planning and evaluation.

HSDA students must achieve a grade of C or better in all required classes.
